Its large long leaves appear as many shades of green with different structures and tips of silvery white. In the cup Pai Mu Tan tea gives a shimmering amber tone with an elegant spicy taste.

Ying Zhen Silver Needle £6.95 per pot, for one*

Silver Needle Tea is amongst the very finest Chinese Teas. Picked on only a few days in early spring as the fresh new buds unfurl. The tea is not oxidised or rolled but simply withered and dried by a steaming process. The loose tea leaves resemble pine needles and its taste is mellow with a slightly smoky aftertaste.

Jasmine Silver needle Ying Zhen £6.95 per pot, for one*

Very similar loose leaf tea to our original Silver Needle but the tea is held back until the first Jasmine Flowers appear when they are added to the tea to create Jasmine Needle. Plucked when the April rains arrive and naturally sun dried. The fresh Jasmine blossom is used to scent the tea for five consecutive nights when the Jasmine releases its full aroma. After every night scenting the tea is gently fired to control the moisture content. Low in caffeine and high in anti-oxidants. Wonderful loose leaf tea to replenish the mind, body and spirit.

Green Tea

Chinese Sencha Green £4.10 per pot, for one

China Green Tea - A Chinese loose leaf green tea for everyday drinking. This is a very popular grade which is a staple drink in China. The large loose leaf tea is slightly brittle due to the long wiry nature of the tea leaves. When brewed you get an olive green dark infusion. The taste is soft and mild with a sweet note. Be careful not to over infuse.

Gunpowder £4.10 per pot, for one

The name GUNPOWDER was given to this speciality because of its rolled leaves which appear as little balls. When the loose tea leaves are brewed they crackle and unfurl. It has a strong traditional taste with a tangy aroma.

Jasmine with Flowers £4.10 per pot, for one

The National Drink of China no less. This Green tea can be drunk any time of day and on any occasion. This is our house quality Jasmine tea and our most popular. It is quite a sweet blend with good blossom content which gives you an intense, flowery jasmine taste and scent.
